Predicted Event: roadaccidents

Confidence: 95.00%

Event Summary: The surveillance video initially depicts a typical busy urban street scene, with numerous pedestrians walking on sidewalks and vehicles, including a bus and a black car, moving along the road. A specific individual is noted near a tall red sign at the curb. This normal activity is then abruptly interrupted by a major incident where a large vehicle crashes or overturns, kicking up debris and causing nearby pedestrians to react. In the immediate aftermath, a person is seen lying stretched out on the pavement, with several individuals gathered around them, indicating an injury and the incident's direct consequence.
